Serial No. 10/086,712

IN THE SPECIFICATION:

Please REPLACE paragraph [0014] with the following:

[0014] On the basis of an object achieved in accordance with claim 14, the invention provides a]A computer system which is intended for carrying out the method has an operating means checking device which respectively ascertains a state for the operating means before and after a process has been terminated and records whether the termination has resulted in unassignable operating means by comparing the state after termination with the state before termination for discrepancies